

“With ever-increasing threats to IT security, every organisation needs to be prepared, ensuring they have policies in place in the event of a security incident or IT disaster”

Sovereign Secure’s security consultancy teams provide the most comprehensive, end-to-end range of services, covering all aspects of our clients’ security requirements. From security policies to planning, delivery, deployment, reviews and audits, we ensure our clients are secure, prepared and able to continue operating effectively in the event of a security incident or problems with their IT hardware, software or network

A security policy demonstrates a company’s commitment to protecting the integrity of their information. Managing this on an ongoing basis is critical to any organisations’ security — a functioning security policy must be continuously updated to keep up with changing technology and employee logistics. In essence, it is a business plan for an organisation’s information security, which will limit exposure in the event of a security incident.

At Sovereign Secure, an experienced team is involved in all aspects of the security process. Whether it is compiling and implementing policies, revisions, reviews or audits, through to ensuring that all security measurements are carried out and enforced, we provide expert advice to a broad range of organisations through the various stages of development and execution.

We work closely with our clients to develop and deliver technology and vendor independent security policies.

We regularly educate our clients’ employees to ensure that the organisation adheres to all aspects of the agreed security policy

Our expert advice includes high level, specific guidelines and procedures, ensuring that these security devices and methods are tailored to the exact needs, security measures, objectives and budgets of each individual organisation.
